

THE BC EPILEPSY SOCIETY LAUNCHES THE DOCUMENTARY “FAILURE: THE BLACK MARK ON CANADIAN HEALTH CARE”

Vancouver, BC – Today the BC Epilepsy Society launched the first episode of the What If ... Documentary Series™, FAILURE: The Black Mark on Canadian Health Care.

The What If ... Documentary Series™ was born out of necessity to highlight the lack of action from the BC Provincial Government and includes the Society’s unsuccessful efforts to meet with government over a period of 26 months. Kim Davidson, the CEO & Executive Director of the BC Epilepsy Society and Founder of the international I AM A VOICE for Epilepsy Awareness™ campaign is the Creator and Producer of the What If ... Documentary Series™. The adult epilepsy crisis in British Columbia is ongoing and patients continue to die while waiting years for the treatment and care they need.

“The ugly truth of the matter is that the adult epilepsy program in BC is a black spot on the Canadian health care system. Our first episode will show how and why this is the case.” said Kim Davidson.

The epilepsy population in British Columbia is an underserved population, particularly for adults living with epilepsy in the province. Within British Columbia’s adult epilepsy system, there are many inequities associated with the care and support provided to adults, especially when compared with the rest of Canada in terms of funding, treatment options, and wait lists, among many others.

Additional episodes of the What If ... Documentary Series™ will be launched on the BC Epilepsy Society YouTube Channel and website every Tuesday in October leading up to the 2020 BC Provincial Election on October 24th.

Roll Call Campaign

In addition to the launch of this documentary, BC Epilepsy Society has also launched the Roll Call campaign to engage with all candidates running in the 2020 BC Election. Kim Davidson has requested meetings with candidates to discuss the adult epilepsy crisis in BC. The goal of the Roll Call campaign is to help make people living with epilepsy and their loved ones aware of which candidates are informed about the epic failures in adult epilepsy programs in our province. Please click here to access the Roll Call, where, every Friday, the names of candidates who have taken the time to meet with us to hear the issues will be published.
